

Leading From Rest

DAN STUDD, PRESIDENT, FREEDOM IN CHRIST USA • SEPTEMBER 17, 2024

I. Opening Questions:

- a. What do you think of when you hear the words rest or Sabbath?
- b. How do most believers you know view rest or the Sabbath?

II. Thesis: Rest is an essential gift from God so that our leadership does not become an idol, and so that we can lead from a healthy soul.

III. Two Aspects of Rest

a. Attitude

- i. An attitude of rest is necessary for good and healthy leadership.
- ii. Illustration: Sight & Sound Theater
- iii. Scripture:
 1. Exodus 20:8-11
 2. Deuteronomy 5:12-15

b. Action

- i. Hebrews 4:1-16
 1. Belief and
 2. Obedience (listening with the intent to obey)
 3. Jesus, our great high priest, can identify!
- ii. The Emotionally Healthy Leader, Pete Scazzero
 1. Stop (all paid and unpaid work)
 2. Rest (nap, activities that replenish you, relaxation)
 3. Delight (what brings you joy and delight?)
 4. Contemplate (make it a holy or "set-apart" day, not just a day of entertainment)

Reflection Questions (Table Discussion):

- a. What do you believe is God's attitude toward you when you are resting?
- b. What thought or practice is your biggest barrier to practicing sabbath rest weekly?
- c. What one step can you take toward getting healthy rest?

Renunciations and Announcements to help our souls return to Rest:

- I renounce the restlessness of spirit that drives me to being addicted to activity and causes me to shun stillness, solitude, quietness and rest and robs me of intimacy with God.
- I announce, Lord, that You have made the godly man or woman for Yourself (Psalm 4:3), and that You have chosen me first and foremost that I might be with You (Mark 3:14).
- I renounce walking by sight and not by faith (2 Corinthians 5:7) and all the anxiety and fear and panic that accompanies taking my eyes off Jesus (Matthew 14:28-33).
- I announce Lord, that by Your grace I will fix my mind on the things above where You are (Colossians 3:1,2), fixing my eyes on Jesus who is the author and the finisher of my faith (Hebrews 12:2). You are my Prince of peace (Isaiah 9:6).
- I renounce the lie that I have something to prove either to myself or to others, and I renounce any pressure to impress anyone. [Let the Lord search your heart and reveal any specific ways you are driven to prove something to anyone, as well as any people you feel pressured to impress.]
- I announce the truth that I am completely accepted in Christ the Beloved (Ephesians 1:7). I throw off this false yoke and take on the yoke of Jesus (Matthew 11:28-30) who sought to please only the Father (John 8:29).
- I renounce the unrest that comes from believing that I have to win a competition in my own mind of “one-upmanship” over others. I renounce being driven to appear more spiritual, wise, fruitful, knowledgeable, entertaining or hard-working than anyone else.
- I announce the truth that a man can receive nothing unless it be given to him from heaven (John 3:27); my times are in God’s hands (Psalm 31:15); and I am called simply to walk in the good works God has prepared beforehand for me to do (Ephesians 2:10).

- I renounce any and all pride and the self-deception of thinking that I know how to care for myself; that I know how to handle situations; that I can always take on more; that I don't need to sleep or rest or take time off as much as others do. I renounce being wise in my own eyes and leaning on my own understanding.
- I announce my choice here and now to trust in God with all my heart and not lean on my own understanding (Proverbs 3:5-7). I also acknowledge and announce that God's grace is sufficient for me and that I will most gladly boast about my weaknesses so that the power of Christ might dwell in me, for when I am weak, then I am strong (2 Corinthians 12:9,10).
- I renounce complaining, struggling against, resisting or doubting God's love for me when I encounter various trials for the testing of my faith (James 1:2-4).
- I choose to accept that those whom the Lord loves He disciplines (Hebrews 12:6) and that His pruning of me proves I am His child and is designed to enable me to bear more fruit (Hebrews 12:7,8; John 15:2). I accept that God will guide me in paths of righteousness for His name's sake, but first He will restore my soul (Psalm 23:3).
